

New York Orthopaedic Hospital
Alumni Association Biennial Meeting

73rd Meeting

Friday & Saturday
May 8-9, 2009

THE WINTERGARDEN
Morgan Stanley Children's Hospital
of New York-Presbyterian/Columbia Campus
3959 Broadway and 165th Street
1st Floor Lobby
New York, NY 10032

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION & OBJECTIVES

The objective of this meeting is to present a comprehensive review of current trends in orthopaedic surgery, emphasizing the orthopaedic surgical subspecialties of shoulder surgery, sports medicine, pediatrics, hand surgery and trauma. The program includes lectures and case presentations. Current residents in training are required to participate and will present cases to the alumni audience.

FACULTY

The following are on the faculty of the Department of Orthopaedic Surgery, Columbia University College of Physicians & Surgeons:

Christopher S. Ahmad, MD, Associate Professor
Louis U. Bigliani, MD, Professor and Chairman
Jeffrey A. Geller, MD, Assistant Professor
Justin K. Greisberg, MD, Assistant Professor
Scott V. Haig, MD, Assistant Professor

Gregory Galano, MD, Post-Doctoral Residency Fellow

Mark A. Vitale, MD, Post-Doctoral Residency Fellow

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The Department of Orthopaedic Surgery acknowledges K2M, Osteotech and Stryker Spine for supporting this meeting.

Alan DeForest Smith Lecturer

Thomas S. Thornhill, MD, was born in Charleston, West Virginia. He completed his undergraduate studies at Williams College, where he earned Highest Honors in Biology. He received his Doctor of Medicine Degree from Cornell University Medical College in 1970.

He is currently a John B. and Buckminster Brown Professor of Orthopaedic Surgery, Harvard Medical School and has been the Chairman of the Department of Orthopaedic Surgery, Brigham and Women's Hospital since 1996.

Dr. Thornhill performs over 250 major surgical procedures annually ranging from arthroscopic procedures in early arthritis to major joint revision procedures for patients with joint replacements that have failed.

Dr Thornhill has published and lectured extensively on total knee arthroplasty, total hip arthroplasty, total shoulder arthroplasty and total elbow arthroplasty. He is the Director of Operation Walk Boston, bringing total joint arthroplasty to the Dominican Republic.

Frank E. Stinchfield Lecturer

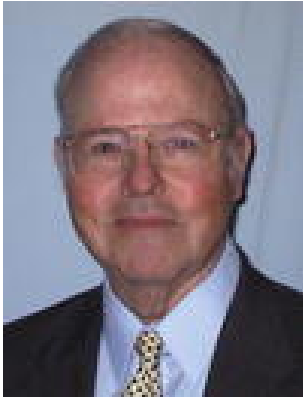

Oheneba Boachie-Adjei, MD, was born in Kumasi, Ghana, on December 16, 1950. He immigrated to the United States in 1972 and completed undergraduate studies at Brooklyn College, where he received a Bachelor of Science (summa cum laude) in 1976. He received his Doctor of Medicine Degree from Columbia University's College of Physicians and Surgeons in 1980.

He was Assistant Professor of Orthopaedic Surgery at the University of Minnesota (1987-1990); Clinical Assistant Professor, University of Southern California (1990-1994) and Assistant Clinical Professor, University of California College of Medicine, Irvine (1993-1994). His clinical appointments included the position of Associate Medical Director at the Southern California Complex Spine and Scoliosis Center in Whittier (1990-1994).

Since July of 1994, he has been Associate Clinical Professor of Orthopaedic Surgery at Weill Cornell Medical College and Chief of the Scoliosis Service and Associate Attending Orthopaedic Surgeon at Hospital for Special Surgery and NewYork-Presbyterian Hospital.

Dr. Boachie-Adjei has published and lectured extensively on spine surgery, with special emphasis on surgery to correct spine deformity. He is an inventor who holds several patents for devices used in spine surgery. He has started a foundation, F.O.C.O.S. (Foundation of Orthopedics and Complex Spine) to provide orthopaedic medical care to underserved populations in West Africa and other third world nations.

Distinguished Alumnus Award

Robert Jon Neviaser, MD was born in Washington, DC, the son of a prominent orthopaedic surgeon. After graduating from Phillips Academy in Andover, MA, he received his A.B. from Princeton University and his MD from the Jefferson Medical College. He spent two years as an Intern and Assistant Resident in Surgery at the New York Hospital-Cornell University Medical Center, followed by three years as an Assistant Resident and Resident/Junior Annie C. Kane Fellow in Orthopaedic Surgery at the New York Orthopaedic Hospital of the Columbia University Medical Center. After two years of military service, he did a one year fellowship in Surgery of the Hand at the Orthopaedic Hospital of Los Angeles. This was followed by one year at the University of Connecticut as Assistant Professor of Surgery (Orthopaedics) and Chair of the Section of Orthopaedic Surgery.

He then moved to the George Washington University School of Medicine as an Associate Professor of Orthopaedic Surgery, eventually being promoted to the rank of Professor five years later.

In 1987, he was appointed Professor and Chairman of the Department of Orthopaedic Surgery at the George Washington University, his current position.

Dr. Neviaser is the author of over 120 publications, has given over 250 presentations worldwide, and has been the Visiting Professor or Presidential Guest Lecturer at nearly 60 institutions and societies, nationally and internationally. He is a member of the Alpha Omega Alpha Medical Honor Society, as well as numerous orthopaedic organizations. He is a Founding Member and Past President of the American Shoulder and Elbow Surgeons and is a Past President of the Western Trauma Association.

Dr. Neviaser was an Associate Editor of the Journal of Hand Surgery for five years. He was also a North American Editor (five years) and the Editor-in-Chief (12 years) of the Journal of Shoulder and Elbow Surgery, now holding the title of Editor Emeritus. He has been the recipient of numerous honors, including the GWU Orthopaedic Chief Residents Teaching Award six times over the past 25 years. Twenty-five percent of all residents trained under his Chairmanship are in full time academic positions. His two brothers (one also an NYOH alumnus) and one of his four children are also orthopaedic surgeons.

FOREWORD

To Our Fellow Alumni:

We have a long leadership heritage which is a source of great pride for us all, and we share many fond memories of our years of training. Many alumni have brought honor to New York Orthopaedic Hospital through impressive accomplishments in medical centers throughout the United States and Canada. These include deanships, chairmanships, faculty appointments, and leadership positions in national organizations and local communities.

The practice and teaching of orthopaedic surgery continue to evolve. We believe the basic strengths and skills learned during our rigorous and challenging clinical training will stand us in good stead as we face the dynamics of change.

Despite these changes, we believe the New York Orthopaedic Hospital will continue its 143-year proud history undeterred and we look forward to facing these challenges with you.

The Alan DeForest Smith Memorial Lectures

The Alan DeForest Smith Memorial Lecture was established in honor of an orthopaedic surgeon who dedicated his career to the achievement of excellence in medical education and patient care. Dr. Smith directed the New York Orthopaedic Hospital from 1940 to 1956, a time of critical transition for the Hospital. It was during these years that NYOH joined the family of hospitals known as Columbia-Presbyterian Medical Center, a collaboration which has proved most fruitful. Dr. Frank E. Stinchfield, Dr. Smith's successor, initiated the tradition whereby the Alan DeForest Smith Memorial Lecture is given at the New York Orthopaedic Hospital Alumni meetings by a visiting professor prominent in the field of orthopaedic surgery.

Frank E. Stinchfield Memorial Lecture

Chairman and Director of the New York Orthopaedic Hospital from 1956 to 1976, Dr. Frank E. Stinchfield guided NYOH into the future of orthopaedic surgery. He reformed residency education, established a program in orthopaedic research, introduced subspecialty clinics to improve patient care, and both led and inspired the development and implementation of innovative surgical techniques. To honor and commemorate the forty-eight years of distinguished service and leadership given by this visionary surgeon, researcher, administrator and educator, the Alumni in 1993 voted to establish the Frank E. Stinchfield Memorial Lecture. Beginning in 1995, the lecture is to be given at each biennial meeting of the NYOH Alumni Association by a visiting professor who is prominent in the field of orthopaedic surgery.
